

BANKER PREDICTS PROSPERITY AHEAD

Harding of Federal Reserve Board Optimistic of Finances.

By DAVID LAWRENCE.

Washington, D. C., Jan. 19.—W. P. G. Harding, governor of the federal reserve board, doesn't talk about business conditions often. But when he does, he tells some significant things about the entire financial and business situation. That's why the address which he prepared for the New York State Bankers' meeting is worth of study.

Mr. Harding, "by the philosophy of an old saying which I believe, is one of the many bits of wisdom attributed to Confucius—'Things are never as good or as bad as they seem.' I am sure that we have all heard more pessimistic talk during the last six months than we usually hear in ten years, and the 'psychological effect' of public sentiment has much to do with molding actual conditions.

Readjustments Inevitable. "It is evident now that the readjustments which have taken place were inevitable and unavoidable, and in view of world-wide conditions, would not have been so different in this country. The readjustments which have taken place in this country since last spring have been painful, paper profits have been wiped out, and in many cases those who have produced goods and commodities at a high cost find themselves unable to obtain cost of production for them, and are faced with loss of accumulated profits. These conditions have been widespread.

Now Takes Heart. "But present conditions justify some conclusions which ought to be drawn, and which, if accepted, will bring about a position which is sound and strong, or than it has been in many months. Public sentiment today undoubtedly approves of working back to normal. Crisis Over Past. "Whatever danger of crisis there may have been, has been passed. The gloomy forebodings which many felt a year ago, have given way to a feeling of conservative optimism, renewed courage and restored confidence. "We should keep clearly in mind the thought that the problems in working back to normal are not domestic problems merely, but they are problems connected with the working back to normal of a world-wide trade.

Must Sell to Europe. "There are produced in this country every year goods and commodities in volume in excess of domestic requirements, and in excess of our own production. It is essential to economical production. In order to dispose of our surplus products we must sell them to foreign countries, and in the present need of world affairs, it is out of the question for foreign countries to pay for goods purchased here in the usual manner. We must buy their goods if we expect them to pay for ours. The restoration of the normal productive activities of the world and of Europe particularly, where those activities have been most curtailed, is necessary that we should develop some new means of financing foreign trade.

Sees Use in Edge Law.

Mr. Harding seems to believe that the export corporation authorized by the Edge law will be useful, though his address doesn't seem to indicate much faith in the revival of the War Finance Corporation over which he is the chief executive. The chief executive of the corporation recently, Mr. Harding is in a delicate position and can't discuss the tariff very freely, but the hint which is given in the foregoing quotation may be taken as the informal attitude of members of the Federal Reserve Board who look askance at unscientific and ill-considered attempts at tariff revision at this time. What seems to be feared is that a tariff may operate as an embargo and trade relationships lost while countries which have been the habit of selling to Europe, but which now, on account of Europe's inability to pay and their own inability to extend credit, will be shipping raw materials to the United States in order to sell for cash.

K. C. Scores Hit Before Packed House

Wealth of melody and color, artistic dancing, and clever playing characterized "Oh, Oh, Cindy," which made its debut last evening at Apollo theater before a capacity house. It is easily the best home talent production presented in this city recently.

Credits must be given to the talent committee which selected the principals, for each did his or her part well. Enough cannot be said for the dusky trio enacted by Miss Marie Nelson, Martin Kennedy, and John Q. Sheehan for they were the saving grace of the entertainment injecting perhaps the only real humor of the show with the exception of that furnished by Dr. Irving Clark, as "Godmother." Mrs. J. Frank Murtough as the star "Cindy" was entirely capable, possessing a good voice, splendid appearance, and professional ease. Miss Gabriel Loraner scored success in her solo numbers singing "Whispering," "Wondering," and "Pa De Din." "Le Frier" done by Miss Estelle Cunningham was executed in clever unaffected manner. The three bears, William Kober, Darrell Sullivan, and Roy Ryan made a nimble trio putting across the musical number "Little Home in Dixie." Theodore Davey as "Robinson Crusoe" and John Higgins as "Stephen Craig" and Dr. W. H. McGuire as "Santa Claus" played substantial roles, the former having a solo "In the One." Dr. Clark as usual was the adept comedian of the show.

Carefully trained choruses, attired in neat costumes added much to the show. In the case of those who usually doing the most credit to their training by carrying out their dances in simple possessed style. From back stage of the "Ziegfeld Follies" to a musical tale, then to the Land of "Follies" the audience saw the cast in various predicaments all brought about by the fact that they are never contented. Mervin C. Park, of the John E. Rogers Producing company is to be complimented upon the finished production which when presented showed days of careful training. The play was given under the auspices of the Knights of Columbus. Various committees for the show included: Dr. Irving Clark, general chairman.

DRINK MORE MILK AND BE HEALTHY, FARMERS' ADVICE

J. F. Thomas, secretary of the Wisconsin dairy council, will be in Janesville this week to direct the distribution and consumption campaign, which is to be carried on in Rock county to increase the use of milk and milk products. The campaign is mainly for the purpose of creating more of a demand for milk through the education and advertising of the value of dairy products as a food. The dairy men face serious loss through a decreased demand for their products, which is to be caused by a depression in the market. This market sag results in milk going into various uses in which there is not reasonable profit, says the dairy man, while it could be used to great advantage as a food in the homes. George Davies, secretary of the Wisconsin Livestock association and Miss Gladys Stillman, of the University home economics department, will also aid in the campaign here. The propaganda work will be carried on with funds furnished by the Rock County Farm Bureau, the local committee is composed of Harold Ward, Avalon, chairman, and Henry Wickland, Beloit, from the Farm Bureau; and Harry Shurtleff, Roy Merrick and John Wright, Mr. Shurtleff is treasurer. Posters, advertisements and literature have been prepared and will be distributed showing the value of milk, ice cream, butter, cheese and other dairy products. The campaign will carry to the city and country schools, lectures to be given before classes. Prizes will be offered among school children for the best essays on milk and its uses.

LITTLE VILLAGE OF AVALON GETS WIDE PUBLICITY

Avalon is getting to be one of the best advertised places in the world. Its praises and glory are being sung in all parts of the United States, and it would not be surprising if jazz orchestras and stage songsters were singing its praises across the sea. There are no less than 100 popular songs now on the lips of the popular music singers which mention the name of Avalon, such as "I Found My Love in Avalon."

Al Tolson, the star black-face comedian, and Vincent Rice established the fame of Avalon in music. Phonographs grid it out, orchestras sound the tune, whistlers nicker up their lips to sound the name, and people sing it.

But where is Avalon? If it is not the Avalon near Janesville, where is it? Of course, the song mentions something about "the sea." But what of that?

"Lots of people make remarks about why Avalon should be so famous about so much—but I think it is a pretty nice place, whether Tolson means the village near here or not," says Ann, a member of the Kellow Music Shop.

CASE OF FLOYD UP IN SHARON TODAY

Sharon, Pa., Jan. 19.—The Mercer county grand jury this week took up the case of Maude Floyd, colored, charged with the shooting of Clarence Alcock, 55, Beloit, who was killed at the murder scene on Sunday morning, Nov. 28. The principal witnesses before the inquest were Police Sergeant Richard Vaseoni, the first person to arrive at the scene of the murder after a report had been made to the police by telephone; John Brown, colored, who was at the Floyd residence; Chief of Police S. H. Lansdowne, and Officer Moses O'Neil. Indictments will probably be handed to Judge J. A. McLaughry Friday, and one against Miss Floyd is expected to be against the list. The trial of criminal cases will be taken up next week with the probability that the Floyd case will be the first to be heard.

Green Bay.—The Fox River Valley County grand jury will hold its annual meeting here on Feb. 10 in conjunction with the industrial exhibition, which is being staged by the association of commerce. At the same time automobile leaders from this part of the state will organize the Northwestern Wisconsin Automobile association.

Auto Plants to Re-Open Soon, Belief

Janesville automobile dealers say the backbone of the idleness of the auto industry has been broken. Implement and tractor dealers also look for a decided resumption of business activities during February or March.

Auto agents point out that factories producing cars are opening up and that trade will be decidedly stimulated through increased sales resulting from advertising and the automobile shows to be staged in large cities.

As the larger auto plants resume production operations the thousands now out of work will be employed. Most of the plants have completed their inventory. The Ford company, according to dispatches, will resume operations early in February. The unofficial date for the Ford plant has been set for February 17.

Officials of the General Motors plant in Michigan with the Buick at Flint the Oakland at Pontiac, the Oldsmobile at Lansing, the Cadillac and Scripps-Booth in Detroit and the gigantic Chevrolet in Flint, it is expected, will soon open their doors for heavy production schedule. The Dodge company in Detroit, it is stated, will open in February. This company employs about 55,000 in normal times.

At one time it was estimated that 75,000 men were idle in Detroit. Wisconsin industries show signs of recovering from the shut-down, judging from press reports. Men are being employed gradually as material prices reach a level on which companies can base a production schedule.

WOULD PUSH STATE AS SUMMER RESORT

An organization to develop the tourist and resort possibilities of Wisconsin is advocated by L. O. Holman, manager of the Janesville Chamber of Commerce, in a letter to D. B. Meyer, secretary of the Madison Chamber of Commerce, urging that the state commercial secretaries take action to form such a body. Mr. Holman declares that the state has unusual advantages in judging from press reports. Men are being employed gradually as material prices reach a level on which companies can base a production schedule.

There is no state that can boast more splendid scenic beauties or resort possibilities than Wisconsin," said Mr. Holman, bringing out that many thousands could be induced to spend their summers in this state. He points out that Michigan, Illinois and other surrounding states develop these resources and are as a result taking tourists from Wisconsin who otherwise would come here.

U. W. Students to Take Practice Work in Libraries

Madison.—Twenty-five students from the Wisconsin Library school, Madison, will be assigned to 21 public libraries in 17 Wisconsin towns, for eight weeks, beginning Feb. 3, to receive practical field training. In this section a student is to be placed in the Stoughton public library.

Thousands of Chinese Dying of Starvation;
Plea Is Made for FundsA Proclamation
By the Mayor

TO THE CITIZENS OF JANESVILLE:
"In view of the conditions named in this announcement, it is my duty to state that I feel it my duty to do what I can to help these millions of unfortunates who are slowly dying from starvation and disease."

"There have been so many drives for funds for various purposes in the last three years, that drives have become very unpopular. However, I would like to ask—Who is there among us, if he or she saw a human being drowning or going to his death by some other means, who would not give some small sum even if he had to deny himself a meal per day, in order to save that life? No one would stop to consider whether the victim was white or black, or what nation he sprang from. The only thing that would be considered is that a human life was in peril."

"I cannot personally take charge of this matter but will do what I can. I am therefore asking that the various clubs, and religious organizations also the schools, take notice of this call and try to help the unfortunates, calling for our aid."

"The funds so raised can be sent to the city clerk who will take charge of the funds. The funds will be sent to the National Committee on Famine Relief for China and India to be used for the relief of the unfortunates, calling for our aid."

"China looks to us as her oldest, richest and warmest friend whom she has learned to trust. We cannot ignore her call and let those helpless people die without an effort to save them."

"President Wilson has appointed a National Committee on Famine Relief for China and India and has asked me to act in Wisconsin. The committee desires to undertake a so-called drive but is convinced that without putting a burden on anyone, an adequate response can be secured."

"May I not ask that you call together the heads of the various churches, other religious organizations, associations of merchants, civic clubs, and women's clubs, impressing upon them the seriousness of the famine in China and the necessity of immediate assistance, asking them to make plans for the coordination of efforts, and the appointing of committees for the collecting of funds?"

pany, Madison, has been named as a

of that institution at the earliest moment."

Governor Allen has issued a proclamation calling on the people of Wisconsin to contribute "cash or grain" to the aid of starving inhabitants of northern China.

Mayor T. E. Welsh today issued a proclamation calling upon those who wish to contribute to give their subscriptions to City Clerk L. J. Sartell.
The paper was drawn upon receipt by him of an appeal from Charles Mc-Carthy, Madison, head of the legislative reference department of the Wisconsin Free Library commission. Mr.
McCarthy has been appointed chairman for Wisconsin.

 enormity of the terrible conditions in China. Forty-five million people are suffering, 15,000,000 of them facing starvation and will die without our help. Ten thousand are already dying daily."

"In a cablegram from Charles R.
Crane, U. S. Minister to China, we learn that $1 will save one life one month. The school children might be asked to contribute their pennies, as 1 cent will save one life one day."

MUST RUN FARMS ON BUSINESS BASIS

Speakers at Twilight Club Meeting Urge Importance of Marketing.

Importance of marketing—a sound and sane application of economic principles to govern distribution of farm products enabling the producer to obtain the maximum market value—was urged by speakers at the meeting of the Twilight club in the Y. M. C. A. last night.

More than 300 were present under the leadership of J. A. Craig, president of the club, and owner of the "Craighurst" farm near Janesville. Members of the county board and many Rock County farmers attended.

City Man Interested.

The meeting accomplished much in acquainting the city members of the Twilight club with the needs, demands and ultimate aims of the farmers. Statements were made which brought home the truth to the Janesville business men, of the perilous condition of farm finances at present. It was shown just why the farmer is "up against it" as it is called in the market place which topped down prices on everything the farmer has to market to turn into cash.

Sensible organization and relief to the farmer is what is declared, is the only logical way to beat the radicals.

Hibbard Is Speaker.

Prof. B. H. Hibbard, department head of the university of Wisconsin, and recently mentioned as a possible secretary of agriculture in President Harding's cabinet, gave the main speech of the evening. He brought out four methods of farm marketing, variations of which could be adopted for Rock county and applied to bring a more reasonable price for market goods.

The speaker held close attention for in the mass of farm economic facts, he injected enough human interest elements to make his address decidedly "live" for both the farmer and city man present.

No Real Solution.

"Farm failures form a fertile ground for agitators," declared the university man. "The farm market problem will never be completely solved. One solution will bring on other new problems, resulting in a demand for new answers."

The speaker then explained that farmers must know the cost of production, and that such determination of costs is basic. It was then detailed that different results result from varied conditions in different parts of the nation. Likewise the production costs differ locally from the different methods and means employed by neighboring farmers.

It was pointed out that no price can be held up to a high mark for any length of time by artificial means—the price eventually being regulated by the law of supply and demand.

The cost of production theory of prices is based as being unsound in many ways, he said.

Supply and Demand.

The farmers were urged to organize effectively to place goods on the market under such a distribution system so as to obtain the top price of market conditions.

The law of supply and demand is not expected—it never will be," said Prof. Hibbard. "But you can organize to such a point as to stop friction and waste in putting your product on the market, and thus obtain the maximum price which the 'traffic' will bear. If you have high prices, the consumer will buy less. It is a continual shifting back and forth."

Four Market Plans.

The four systems of marketing were explained as below:

1. Obtaining the full price the market will stand. This method is employed by the citrus fruit growers in California. When the product is ready for the market, a system of organization is employed, whereby definite information is obtained at all parts of the country and world as to where the best market is available. The produce is placed on the market so the producers are able to concentrate and rush their shipments to the point where highest prices are obtained.

2. The monopoly system where the price is calculated according to the organization supply of the marketable product over which the growers have control.

3. The pool system, whereby the growers pool together their product, store it, and wait for high shifts in the markets.

4. The present system, declared to be unsatisfactory, and that it would be done away with.

Credit Is Needed.

"The financial structure of the nation is sensitive to the army of 'farmers,'" it was stated. "Finance is deeply concerned with these market moves—for the farmer must have credit to 'back' the market. Financial failures on the farm come from not having knowledge of costs."

"Prices are made in the market

of the world. The speculators may be able to jettison the market to and lower by fractions, but never by leaps and bounds on farm goods. The tariff is a local issue all knit together into a national question. The farmer wants high protective tariff on oranges and Wisconsin wants tariff on dairy products and livestock.

"There should be some action to establish a safe land policy. There are good land agents and there are plain crooks in the game. The land agent should be made to prove the value of his land and that it will yield a return as no saddling worthless land—which never would yield a value on farmers. That is a hopeless condition."

"The trouble with the farm conditions is that the good and successful farmer will go on having to compete with the poor farmer who continues to produce at a financial loss. There should be higher standards of comfort and not living in money in land alone. His wife is entitled to more consideration than an acre of land."

"The farmer can do the middle-man's business such as milling and running a warehouse. He can succeed, but he cannot do it and farm," said Prof. Hibbard.

"There is no subject more important than marketing," said J. A. Craig. "We have varied business in Janesville but it is a fact that the factor of our door is the main factor of this and every other city. The modern farmer is studying his problems and coming together in that splendid organization—the Farm Bureau. The farmer is learning more about his business and reaching a sensible solution. The time will come when the farmer will have something to say on the market place and when it should be said."

"Our farmers are going to come out of this terrible slump."

"The farmer is going to reason and be able to take care of himself. There is no use producing something at a loss. That is why he should know production costs. If he is losing money on his crop, or a certain stock, he had better quit that crop, and start on something he can raise at a profit. The producer cannot control the season or the market. Every factor of farm work that he can control happens to be governed by the elements he cannot govern—such as the seasons."

"There must be a change in the marketing system on the farm before we can go ahead. There must be changes on the farm, for the farmer must be able to produce at prices below which the costs to the less modern neighbor. If he can produce cheaper and more than the other fellow he has got the problem solved. One answer is in motor equipment and modern appliances," said Mr. Craig.

Rev. J. A. McElroy spoke on the need of contributing to the Near East relief fund.

At the next meeting there will be a debate on the city management form of municipal government.

Mayor Thomas E. Welsh will oppose the manager form and Stephen Holmes editor of the Gazette will speak for the modern system of city management.

J. M. Dedrick was elected as leader for the March meeting, where the subject will be "Corn and Its Uses." Expressions of gratitude were made by the members of the county board and, from the farmers by K. K. Overton.

Next Is Next.

CABBAGE PRICES ARE COMING UP.

Madison—Prices of the cabbage market are twice those of early fall, the division of markets will state in its bi-weekly news letter.

Farmers who stored their crop as a result were said to have been white those who sold during the fall as a rule lost money.

"The long looked for strengthening of the cabbage market has become a reality, at least for the present," the division reports. "While it is nothing as compared to a year ago, it has helped many farmers and dealers out of a bad hole and those who had confidence enough in the future to store some of their crop are now being repaid."

"The general impression is that the acreage to be planted in the state this coming spring will be greatly reduced. This will depend a great deal on how sugar beets pay out this year and what future prices are likely to be as the two crops compete for acreage."

Shipments have increased greatly since the advance in the market, having mounted to 3,705 cars, 482 more than were shipped all last season.

Prices are made in the market

BOARD POSTPONES ACTION ON AGENT

a vote of 10 to pass the suspending rules, counting absent members.

It is a reconsideration of a matter voted down at the November meeting and I cannot see how a new resolution can be introduced here," declared Chairman McGowan.

The matter was argued until Supervisor Richardson caused a vote on the suspension of rules. The motion lost 18 for suspending and 17 for the motion. The Board members, except Supervisor Simon Smith, voted against the motion.

"I voted against the suspension of the rules because I don't think this is the proper time to bring the matter up," declared Supervisor Neale Deason.

The probability of the county agent matter not coming to a vote was published in the Gazette in December. The district attorney gave an opinion that the rules would have to be suspended when questioned on the matter by newspaper men.

The special agriculture committee held an informal session.

The matter now becomes a question for the April meeting at which time the board is reorganized after election.

When the Rock County Farm Bureau declared it will use the political scalping knives against supervisors who will refuse to maintain the office of county agent.

Since the board refuses to consider the matter again during the present meeting through suspension of rules, the bureau will not appear to protest the abolishing of the office, according to statement made today.

The report of the district attorney, S. G. Durwid, showed that no fees or education funds were received by him through the county office during the past year. The amounts were paid to the courts.

Vote in Finance.

The communication urging that commission form of government be adopted was voted on with a decided manner. The supervisors all voted with vocal emphasis to the communication "nighed." There was no argument about it.

McGowan Urges Speed.

Breaking Ice Carries Fishing Tackle Away

(BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.) Green Bay.—Thousands of dollars' worth of fishing equipment belonging to fishermen, were carried out in the bay when the ice broke along the west shore of Green Bay. According to word received from nearby villages, nets, shanties, and skiffs were carried out into the bay by the high wind. It is said that the fishermen are losing hundreds of dollars by inactivity due to the unfavorable conditions. What fish is caught is being shipped out to the "fresheries" trade, it is said.

ON WRITING TO THE GAZETTE.

The Gazette has been in receipt of a number of letters in reference to the verdict of the jury in the case of Lynam, the Madison poleman. None of them were signed and it seems a necessity to (for the thousandth time or more) say to anyone who writes for the Gazette that we will print nothing unless we know from whom it comes. That is the first thing that is looked for—the name. We do not ask to print that name, but this office must know who is writing—so does every other newspaper in the country. If there is no name attached the communication goes into the waste basket at once. Here is a letter signed "Milwaukee Street Grocerman." It is a good letter, but that is all the signature. It goes into the waste basket. We want letters from the people. The Gazette is your paper and the columns are open to the discussion of any and all topics except one—we bar denominational religious discussions. And if it is the desire of the writer to conceal his identity from the public it will be done and no one will know the author except the editor.

ASSEMBLYMAN MATHESON'S LIQUOR BILL.

When the Mulberger act was passed it was at the behest and with the support of the dying liquor interests of the state, particularly the breweries. It was designed to be acceptable to the more complaisant of the forces opposed to the saloon, and at the same time increase the alcoholic content permitted under the Volstead law. It however was never conceived that the act itself would be used to condemn the very forces that backed it. The measure was carried at the election largely as a basis for a real enforcement law which it was understood all along would be presented at this session of the legislature. That honor by right has fallen to Assemblyman A. E. Matheson, of Janesville, who is chairman of the committee on State Affairs. The measure is to be introduced into the assembly today, and while there will be a fight against it backed by the criminal whiskey and beer element now in the limelight at La Crosse and Milwaukee federal courts, its passage is probable. The bill, as its provisions were detailed in the Gazette, Monday, will make the district attorney of each county the prohibition commissioner for that locality. It ties up the physician with a license fee for issuing prescriptions and makes the druggist and physician keep a record of whiskey sales open to the public at any time for inspection. It has other provisions and revives that part of the old liquor law which makes it possible to prosecute a man for being drunk. This will be remembered in Janesville as a part left out of the law, permitting a violator to escape on a technicality.

Mr. Matheson will see that the bill is followed to the end. If the assemblyman from Rock county does no more than to accomplish the passage of this measure he will have done much to make respect for law. It is therefore pleasant to note the place given Mr. Matheson at the head of the committee on state affairs which will have the bill in charge.

The Mulberger bill can be enforced and used as it is for the punishment of the whiskey conspirators and criminals. Judge Quinlan, at Marinette, is one circuit court judge who has no time to waste on technicalities. He sentenced ten men for liquor violations and these cases were presented to him by a district attorney who has a respect for the law and its demands. In sentencing the criminal whiskey dispensers Judge Quinlan took occasion to deliver a scolding lecture to the physicians who have joined the criminal band in issuing prescriptions without limit, many to fictitious names. "The doctors who issue them and the druggists who fill them are just as guilty of a violation of the liquor law as any of these saloon men found guilty," said the judge. He told the district attorney to make investigation and to act where necessary.

That is the manner and kind of judge that makes for law and order and will do more to create respect for law than the law itself.

FINISH THE JOB OF LIGHTING.

There seems to be some question about the lighting system to be voted on by the council tonight—whether a piece of the program will be carried out or all of it. It would seem that the plans in hand and an appropriation made the job should be well done while at it. A long space of no lights and then a lighted section is not attractive, nor does it answer the purpose. It is to be hoped, therefore, that the council will see to it that the lighting plan is carried out. Taking two bites at a cherry is not good business. A well lighted city is a better city than a dark and gloomy one.

New York society has taken up prize fighting as a means of satisfying its disgusting ennui. How about staging a few murders and hold-ups to give the languid nerves of the social set a real jarring?

Women on juries are worrying some of the men in the legal profession. They might as well begin to spruce up. The woman on the jury will be there.

Women Juries Now Popular

By FREDERICK J. HASKIN

New York City, Jan. 18.—Impressed by the ability of women juries in New Jersey, New York is now considering the advisability of introducing women jurors into its courts. A bill amending the present jury law to include "female citizens of the United States" as well as male ones, is to be submitted to the New York legislature this month, and, as the legislature is known to be favorably disposed on this question, it is believed that it will be only a short time before "Ladies and Gentlemen of the Jury" will be an established form in the courts.

With the change in the law, jury service will become an obligation on the part of women just as much as it is today with the men, and there will be subjected to the same strict rules. The present law provides that any person subpoenaed for jury duty who fails to respond is subject to punishment for contempt of court, and may be fined to the extent of $100. It is doubtful whether this compulsory feature of the law will prove any more popular with women than with men, after the novelty of jury duty wears off, but for the first few years there will probably be few attempts at evasion.

Under present conditions, the courts are having more and more difficulty in obtaining competent juries of men. No man, it seems, will serve on a jury if he can possibly avoid it. Already masculine ingenuity has been strained in inventing a large assortment of excuses from jury service, and it may be that in the future a long list of feminine excuses will be offered, headed by "necessary shopping" and "bridge club meetings."

But so far, women have shown themselves much more interested in jury duty than men. It was Judge Daniel A. Dugan, of the Essex County Court, Orange, N. J., who first tried the experiment in this part of the country. In November, the judge suddenly found his panel of 200 men jurors drawn for his court at the beginning of the year, running out all of the men finding excuses of one kind or another to relieve them of the work. So, being more annoyed than usual, he took the radical alternative of enlisting the newly enfranchised New Jersey women.

The women chosen were carefully picked, and represented some of the best families of Orange. Much to the surprise of the court, they appeared promptly in answer to the summons, and none offered an excuse to avoid serving. At the last moment, it is true, Mrs. Thomas A. Madison telephoned the judge and asked to be excused because her husband was ill, but she said that she would find some way to come if he could not find someone else to take her place.

According to Mrs. Everett Colby, who was appointed forewoman of the jury, the women talked the matter over and decided that since they had gained the ballot after such a long, hard fight, they ought not to object to fulfilling its responsibilities; when the call to jury duty came they would accept it without complaint.

"It was the most interesting experience," Mrs. Colby declared when the trial was over, and the ladies were discussing its features in the domestic chamber of an Orange farmhouse. "It was the first time I had ever had the chance to watch the operations of a court, and there were lots of things we didn't understand, but of course we couldn't interrupt to ask questions."

"The most astounding thing to me was when two witnesses swore to exactly the opposite thing on the same point. We had to decide between them as to which was telling the truth, and we had nothing at all to go upon. We knew nothing about their history or what kind of people they were, and we had to determine which one was lying, and which one was telling the truth. Of course, one of them was lying, but he was permitted to come into court and swear to a lie that he knew was a lie, and the jury decided against him, decided that he was lying, but he was allowed to go without anything being done to him."

"One case, of course, was a simple one," continued Mrs. Colby. There was a dentist who came from a family of hucksters. There were three brothers, and the dentist had taken one of his brothers and kept him in school, sending him through high school. Afterward, the boy became a huckster, but also helped in the office of his brother, the dentist. One of the witnesses, a woman, testified that she went to the dentist's office one evening at 8 o'clock and the boy tried to pull a tooth for her, but the tooth broke, and blood began to flow. The boy told her she would have to go away and come back again when the tooth stopped bleeding.

"She went away and when she came back her jaw was terribly swollen and she was suffering intensely. The boy explained that he could do nothing until the swelling went down, but the pain was so great, she decided that she must have treatment immediately and went to another dentist. The new dentist treated her and extracted the piece of tooth left in her jaw, and told her to take it back to the other dentist and show him what had been done."

"The three brothers all swore that the boy was merely a huckster, and that he had never been in the dentist's office and had never worn a white coat in his life. But the woman positively identified the boy and the other witnesses all identified him and said he had been in his brother's office. The boy was placed in a group of men seated in the court room, instead of on the platform, and still the witnesses had no difficulty in picking him out. They were also very positive in their statements and could not be confused, and they didn't have any reason to be against the boy unless he really had been in the office."

Furthermore, the boy did not make a good impression in the court room. He had a regular Charlie Chaplin mustache, a lovely complexion and big, bushy hair. He was too pretty and too good looking and too sure of his ground.

"I'd much rather be tried by a jury of women than by a jury of men," he remarked on the morning that the case opened. "Women wouldn't be fair to a woman who was being tried, but with a man it'll be different. I'm satisfied, all right."

Thus the decision of the jury must have burst upon the young man with a tremendous shock. For it took them almost no time at all to find him guilty of the serious offense of practicing dentistry without a license. The jury consisted of twelve women were inclined to acquit him because they felt sorry for his brother, who had worked so hard to educate him, and who would now probably lose a good deal of his practice, but these did not hold out very long. The decision came in just 17 minutes.

Judge Dugan was tremendously pleased with the result of this trial. It was, he declared, precisely the decision he would have made himself. Since then he has been encouraged to repeat the experiment.

We have found women juries an unequalled success," he said recently. "They have had the effect of making men juries easier to get. The men seem a little ashamed of themselves and they are not offering so many excuses to escape serving. I think including women in the jury list will make the whole business of jury-getting easier. It doubles the number of available jurors, for one thing."

It is also possible to get a higher type of women to serve on a jury—the same type of men are too busy to serve. Some of the more juries we have are almost first-class, and the verdicts they render are absolutely righteous. I have thrown out many verdicts of men juries and ordered retrials. Sometimes I let them stand, because it doesn't make any difference, anyway. But often the verdicts are too irrelevant to the facts."

JUST FOLKS

By EDGAR A. GUEST

Here's what my father used to say:
"Skill may come to you some day;
But, if you have it, you'll find
You possess a gift of mind.
But, although you're skill or not,
Being willing helps a lot."

"Life is queer and we can't tell
Why some boys can learn to spell
And others find it hard to do;
It may be that was with you.
But, though great your gift or not,
Being honest helps a lot."

"Be content with progress slow,
Glad to pay as you shall go;
Prudence of mind's not all—
Many a clever man may fall;
Make the most of what you've got,
Being cheerful helps a lot."

"There's a better gift than skill,
It's the proper sort of will—
Will to serve and will to learn,
Standing fast at every turn.
Prudence be your guide, not Being faithful helps a lot."

"Enter on you'll come to know
Gratitude isn't born of show;
Skill is useful to the poor,
Sometimes needed for success.
But, though brilliant of wit,
Being willing helps a lot."

Personal Health Service

By WILLIAM BRADY, M. D.

Noted Physician and Author

BOYS WILL BE BOYS

The head of a famous high school for boys says that the boys are generally mentally deficient from smoking cigarettes. And he is no molluscoid either, but a principal who for many years has enjoyed the greatest popularity with his boys. Yet I can't agree with him. The boys who are mentally deficient are cigarette smokers because of their mental deficiency. A boy with a real brain is enough independent not to smoke. It is the weak wit that can't withstand the taunts and flouts of the kind of smart Alecks that affect cigarettes. The effect of such a habit is invariably inhibition or slowing down of mental processes. No boy or man can think as fast or as well or act as quickly or accurately while under the influence of tobacco as he can while not under such influence. That is a well proved fact. Mental efficiency is slowed down about 25 per cent by a smoke. Physical efficiency is reduced about 10 per cent by a single smoke. That is no doubt the reason why smoking is prohibited for youths who are striving for athletic prowess. Even a young man who smokes knows he must avoid tobacco if he hopes to develop the best there is in him.

But this school principal further emphasizes the danger of tobacco. He has seen boys become mentally deficient from indulging in cigarettes, he continues with this:

"Mental deficiency is always followed with moral deficiency, especially untruthfulness. I am not advocating an anti-smoking crusade against men who smoke. I am merely expressing my conviction of the injurious effect of tobacco on boys."

The youth who smokes is not trustworthy. That is pretty well recognized by teachers and employers. Even a teacher and a man of affairs. He is particularly a bad egg as regards sexual morality. I don't see a smoking youth as far as I can throw a ball or a tail. The moral character isn't there.

Like the high school principal quoted, I am not advocating a crusade against smoking by men. I don't believe the temperate use of tobacco necessarily injures a man's health or weakens his character. Every physician knows that countless men shorten their lives materially by what they may imagine is moderate smoking. In a man of average age, provided he does not inherit his second hand smoke on persons who may not care for it—and far too many tobacco users are utterly ruthless in that respect. It should never be necessary to erect a sign saying "No Smoking Here," for a gentleman should be a gentleman without a sign. Although I have no use for or sympathy with any anti-tobacco crusade, I think the American people should take whatever action may be necessary to keep tobacco out of the hands of boys under 21.

Q. What is the difference between a "druddist" who does not put a war tax stamp on a box of talcum powder? M. G. M.

Its use dates from the sixth century, the Catholic church being among the first to use it.

Q. What is the "Cypress" disease? W. S. S.

A. The disease of "Cypress" in English and American law is a rule of interpretation whereby a testamentary gift which cannot take effect in the precise manner intended by the testator is carried over as near as possible to that which was intended. The doctrine has been applied to two classes of cases—in the creation of freehold estates and in the creation of life estates and in chattels.

Q. What is and where is the Barge? O. E. E.

A. The Barge is in France and is a national gallery of art.

Get the Boys to Fight the English Sparrow

The English sparrow is an outlaw and robber. It drives out peaceable and beneficial members of the feathered tribe.

It replaces their singing songs with discordant clamor. It destroys fruit, grain, and garden crops. Nothing is safer than to destroy all buildings from barns to mansions.

For this reason the United States Government has declared war on the English sparrow. It is on a campaign for the destruction of this greedy and chattering marauder.

The Department of Agriculture has printed a booklet which tells the famous story of the English sparrow's introduction into the United States, its phenomenal multiplication, and its menace. It tells how the bird was introduced into this city and how it has spread.

Get this booklet and enlist the boys of your community in the campaign.

Our Washington Information Bureau will secure a copy of this Government publication for any one who sends two cents in stamps to pay the return postage.

The residents of Ireland claim the estate on the ground that they are the heirs, although remote relatives of Cunningham, a bachelor, who died in a hotel here, where he resided. The King of England says the estate belongs to him under a provision of the Royal Prerogative and the residents of Ireland say it belongs to them under a provision of the United States, without heirs and intestate.

Dallardsville.—This village was in desperate straits when flames devoured the town's fire department. The fire station, a livery stable and other property were destroyed. The structure was built of wood and the flames spread so rapidly that they destroyed the fire-fighting apparatus in an adjoining building. Blanchardville came to the rescue with hose and other equipment and saved the town.

Platteville.—Farm sales are of daily occurrence in this neighborhood. Auctioneers are booked up months ahead. The sale at the Harold Reiter farm is a fair criterion of how farm products are selling. The net receipts of the sale amounted to more than $10,000. Twenty head of yearling steers sold at $100 per head. The highest price reached on Shorthorn grade cows was $85 per head. Cows brought as high as $1 per bushel. Not an article on the block failed to be sold.

A SWEETHEART AT THIRTY

The Story of a Woman's Transformation
BY MARION RUBINCAM

CHAPTER XXVIII
AN UGLY SUSPICION

I gave up trying to convince Tess that after a time that I did not want to have anything to do with Mark Unjohn. She had a curious mind; this sister-in-law of mine. Once all the time she was in the house, it was practically impossible to get it out again.

She knew that 10 years or more ago I had liked her. I was not sure then that I ever had liked him. I think I was in love with love, not with the man—the case with most young girls. And in all the years that passed, she has not the idea grew more firmly rooted—that I was broken-hearted when Mark went away and married, and that I must be overjoyed when he came back again, looking for a second wife.

The only knew:

It was not that I disliked Mark. No woman thoroughly dislikes any man who is in love with her. She may not love him, but she will never be completely indifferent. Perhaps it is the egoism in all of us. We at least appear to be the most selfless of the good people to see our desirable qualities.

But I never saw Mark these summer days, or thought of him, without having another image come before my eyes—another man, Mark's face, but with a different expression, and other qualities.

This man was Francis Meade. Bud's employer, who that one evening had explored our end of the town with us and ended by shooting her as she sat in our most comfortable chair and smoking a long cigar while VI and I made coffee.

I remember he said he made it a point to know all his employees personally, even to the office boys, and when he found real ability in any one of them, to push the boy as hard as he could—to give him a start in business.

Mark had said something like that—but in what a different way! He was taking what he considered a kindly interest in his nephew Billy, but Billy's family were afraid to contradict him for fear he would withdraw his favor, which he made them feel every day. As for Billy, he frequently worked 14 hours out of the 24 for Mark.

And there was the physical difference, too. Mark at 40 was fat and settled, his hair was thin, worn out in spots, and his face, no matter from what angle you looked, Francis Meade at 40 was tall and slim and well knit; he said he played tennis in odd moments and that he spent much of his time at an athletic club keeping himself fit.

But of course I could not tell Tess this. I was not even conscious of it all myself. I simply knew that the sort of man I ever liked could not be a man like Francis Meade's type—never one like Mark.

"Then as can't get what they want should take what they can get," said the remark very ungraciously, finally in answer to some such thought of mine.

"If I can't have what I want, I'd rather do without," I answered.

"Yes," she said, "you always was a fool, Bud."

And so it went, and so it will go, with me now, she went on about some work, and left me alone in the room. And she was at rest in her mind. Too, for we had worked the family goods, and yet they could not exactly tell the difference. For even when we dressed in the badly made clothes that we had made for years, they were different, there was a difference. After a time I began to

The Letters of Tessie and Joe

DEAR TESSIE:

I'm glad to hear my little lecture on thrift brought some action, especially in view of the depressed and still sinking state of the Dairy Canned Soup market, but still at the same time I don't need to consult a certified public accountant to figure there's something wrong in your system of buying twice as much meat as you can use to avoid paying the extra cent on some new pound prices. I strongly advise you to think up some new scheme, Tessie, and sacrifice the extra cent as of yore. "Those who refuse to get stung a little will reap it a thousandfold in the neck."

I might not be a bad stunt to start educating the baby in the ways of thrift. He's old enough now to stand a slight inkling into the fundamental elements of worldly wisdom. You can start in right now to teach him waste makes want. "The next time you give him his bottle and he gets overconfident and careless and starts to let the milk dribble down his chin instead of down his throat, take the bottle away from him and let him yell awhile, and if necessary keep on repeating this object lesson till he realizes the value of thrift and the wisdom of keeping the milk flowing in a useful direction. "See rapid transit." In other words, "get it gone."

You did read about the New York janitor who was left a fortune and had to take a job as a stevedock to get out of the way of get-rich-quick schemers and insurance agents and one thing and another? He had the right idea but it would have been easier and at the same time more effective if he had merely disguised himself as an income tax collector or a prohibition enforcement detective.

Do you ever sing to the baby? If so, kindly avoid "Coming Through the Rye." Visitors might get the idea there was a double meaning behind it and thus get wise to the fact that I've got a little private stock locked away. Love to self and child, JOE.

NURSE EXAMINES PUPILS IN CLINTON

Miss Anna Leutscher, county visiting nurse, is in Clinton this week continuing health work in the schools and village districts.

A carefully planned schedule of work in the village is to be followed in connection with the good health campaign in the county schools. Much of the time is used for examinations, and further than that, the county nurse devotes time to giving instructions on health both in the schools, at the school-home meetings, and in some instances in the homes of pupils. The examinations include defective teeth, tonsils, adenoids and on hearing. Defective speech is also noted. The results are carefully checked and kept track of on charts and files.

School children are declared to be much interested in the weight tests, for it is declared "the county school pupils are decidedly unweighty" according to height. Each child is told what weight he should be. In the health talks the county nurse gives advice as to diet, ventilation, personal hygiene and cleanliness.

The visits to the home by the nurse details to the parents physical ailments of the children and gives advice on their treatment or cure.

The county nurse is preparing her annual report to be submitted to the county board this week.

Heart and Home Problems

Letters May Be Addressed to Mrs. Thompson, in Care of the Gazette.

Dear Mrs. Thompson: My mother lives alone; my father is dead, and my oldest brother is the only single one of the children, but he lives with our grandmother, who has cared for him since he went to school. Now he feels as though he might not have her as she is not old and perhaps not long for this world. Yet he sees to the support of mother, but that does not keep her from being alone.

She has been keeping company with a gentleman for the last two years. He is a very nice man and has asked her to marry him, but not as long as his aged mother, who is sure he will care for her, just because he calls on her and spends the evenings with her the neighbors and street car men make very disrespectful remarks about her.

There is another man who calls there quite often. He was her father's closest friend and has known her all her life. He stops his car outside and runs in for 10 or 15 minutes. He never takes his coat off, and runs in to say "hello" and "good-by" so for a couple of street cars to run by and the operators to draw their own conclusions.

The other day my brother, her friend and two sisters were there when my husband and I called. That evening when my sister's husband came home on the car the operator asked him what he knew about mother, not knowing he was so closely connected.

Mother does not know she is being talked about and it would hurt her terribly. If she has to know, what can I do? I hate to tell them all to stay away for she is so lonely, and I know they mean no harm. Why can't people see by mother's face there is no guilt written there? Oh, why don't they leave her alone when it is friends at home some evening, that is different, and I think you should be allowed to do so occasionally.

WITH THE WOMEN OF TODAY

When the first convention of women voters ever held in this country met in San Francisco in 1915 it delegated a slender, brown-haired woman to carry the message of womanhood across the country to Washington.

When the first convention of women voters since the victory of national suffrage is held at Washington next month the same little woman will represent the millions of enfranchised women in presenting to the nation the first address on the moral statute. Her name is Sara Barr Field, and in spite of a frail constitution, the cares of a family and the carrying on of her own part of the business, she has managed to accomplish a feat of organization in the western cities, where she

PAJAMA SUIT IS OF NOVEL DESIGN

It is known as one of the most persuasive orators on the west coast. She will make it, it is predicted, a thrilling ceremony of the presentation of the suffrage memorial statue to the capitol, the first national exposition of the great work done by those three great women, Elizabeth Cady Stanton, Lucretia Mott and Susan B. Anthony.

Mrs. Barr Field, like Miss Anthony, Mrs. Mott and the successor, Alice Paul, comes of Quaker stock. Her family lived in Detroit, where her father was a successful business man. She herself lived there until the age of 18, when, to the great joy of her deeply religious father, she married a young foreign missionary, who took her to Burma. There her first child was born, and there the young mother suffered so from the climate that she had to be brought home. After they had settled in Portland, Ore., she was the family financial manager, and she began to write.

Probably writing came naturally to her, for she is a cousin of the poet, Eugene Field, and other members of her family have literary tendencies. At any rate, she has since done good work, usually in the form of imaginative and poetic essays, which has

WHAT SHALL I DO?

Answered by VIRGINIA PAGE

The Letters S. A. G.

About a month ago one of the readers of our column asked me the meaning of the letters "S. A. G." when written in the lower left-hand corner of an envelope. I have been through the column that I had not been able to find any meaning at all. It has pleased me beyond measure, and I am sure it will interest that reader to know that I have been fairly flooded with letters from other readers explaining that these letters stand for "St. Anthony's Guide" (or Guide), a plus expression meaning that the letter is entrusted to the care of St. Anthony—a religious form with which I was unfamiliar. I want to share the most interesting of these letters with you all.

A soldier wrote:

"Dear Miss Page: May I inform 'Inquirer' in today's paper that S. A. G. means St. Anthony's Guide. I learned this from a soldier at Vimy who always put these initials on his letters home. I used them on one of my letters afterwards and my wife, believing I was endeavoring to improve my information to her, read it inversely and was greatly alarmed, thinking we was a G. A. attack."

Isn't it great how willing the world is to help when it knows that it can help! It is a matter of strange letters we do not understand or of starting babies in Europe, there is always someone to lend a hand when the call goes out.

I appreciate this courtesy shown me by my Reader-friends, but even now I am delighted with the response because it proves that we can all talk things over together here in our column—you to me and I to you, and all of you to one another through me, about whatever interests or troubles or helps.

So that now "What Shall I Do?" is no longer just a column in the paper. It is a very personal little space of our own wherein we may meet for the exchange of sympathy, help, kindness and understanding. It has been my New Year's resolution that I will do everything within my power to make the exchange helpful. It is my New Year's hope that you will find it so.

All inquiries addressed to Miss Page in care of the "What Shall I Do?" department will be answered in these columns in their turn. This requires considerable time, however, owing to the great number received. So if a personal or quicker reply is desired, send your question to my help, and must be enclosed with the question.

Deny Big Bout Is Off--Elks Here to Form Boxing Club

DEPOSITS POSTED STATES RICKARD; MATCH ON JULY 2

New York, Jan. 15.—(The Rickard, one of the promoters of the heavy-weight boxing championship bout between Jack Dempsey, titleholder, and Georges Carpentier, of France, denied this morning that the bout had been called off, as announced by the New York Times.

All the principals have posted the deposits required under the terms of the contract, Rickard declared. Plans for the bout are being continued, he asserted, and it is now expected to stage it July 2.

New York, Jan. 15.—Official confirmation was lacking today of the announcement printed in the New York Times that the heavy-weight championship bout between Jack Dempsey and Georges Carpentier, of France, had been called off.

The bout was cancelled according to an announcement made by Rickard, because of the failure of the principals to deposit forfeit money.

The promoters agreed to deposit $25,000 as a guarantee of good faith, while the managers of the fighters agreed to deposit $50,000 each.

Charles E. Cochran, an English promoter, is reported to have been the one to make a deposit, although Carpentier's manager is reported to have posted a check for his share in a French bank. The check was not cashed for the money to be deposited not later than November 20, last, at a local trust company.

Expect New Contract

In view of the reported cancellation was only a temporary expedient and that a new contract would be drawn up. A report from Paris says that Carpentier's forfeit of $50,000 was deposited with a local institution on November 22 and San Francisco reports quote Jack Kearns, Dempsey's manager, as saying forfeits of both Dempsey and Carpentier have been posted.

Kearns denied reports that the fight had been called off.

Los Angeles.—John C. Bassler, catcher of the Los Angeles club of the Pacific Coast Baseball League, has been traded to the Detroit Americans for catcher Oscar Stanton of that club. The Eastern Lindemore of the Oklahoma City club of the Western League and a right-handed pitcher and a second baseman, to be named by March 1, was announced today by Wade Killefer, Los Angeles manager.

Pittsburgh, Pa.—James De Hart, former star athlete at the University of Pittsburgh, will go south with the Pittsburgh Pirates when they depart for their spring training camp.

New York.—The contract of Shortstop David Baneroff, the first Giant to sign for the 1921 season, was received on Tuesday at New York National league headquarters.

Here and There, but Mostly Here

By FRANK SINCLAIR, Sporting Editor.

Now that it has been officially announced that Pitcher George Dumont, known hereabouts from his work with the Samson Tractors last year, as the "Speed King," has been sold to Joe Cantillon's Millers by the Boston Americans, it is safe to remark that there was very little likelihood that he would have appeared on the fair grounds diamond anyway next season. Dumont killed himself in Janesville, it is unfortunate to admit, and Manager Perring remarked only a week ago that he did not look favorably upon the pitcher's return.

Was Good Pitcher.

Dumont was a good pitcher. He had speed and something on the ball. For the first part of the 1920 show here he was going so fine that he won his way deep into the hearts of the people. His chances here were handed to him on a silver platter.

Then came a slump, not a thing to be ashamed of because it comes to everyone at times in any kind of work or any field of sport. For some reason, perhaps known to Dumont alone, he started to lose heart. And when he lost his own he commenced to lose that of the public.

Needs Luck.

Most sad to relate was the fact that he got sore at his mates for sometimes making mistakes which he believed should not have been made. Instead of trying to get them to work with them, he worked against them. It might not have been so bad if Dumont had stopped there, but he made it worse for himself by making hasty remarks on the street.

Here's hoping he has had his lesson. He's not a failure in the national game by any means. But, in local love of the game, a man who took a turn at a little juggling in the National league, says: "George is young and needs some more of the world's hard knocks."

We wish him lots of luck under Pongo.

Small Pox Causes Monroe to Cancel Basket Game With Janesville High

Because of an epidemic of small pox in Monroe, the high school team of that city has cancelled its game with Janesville high which was to have been played at the Green county seat next Friday. Telephonic conversation to this effect between Coach Reynor of the Blues and Coach Slevert of Monroe brought out the situation Tuesday.

On account of the presence of the disease among high school and other pupils, the members of the Monroe team were made to submit to vaccination. "This has left some of them in a weakened condition and 'scratches' on their arms will not be healed enough to allow any participation in basketball for at least another week. It is reported."

No Game Friday.

Nothing has been done as yet looking to a play-off of the game at some other date during the season. The game had been looked forward to with keen anticipation as one of the best on the schedule of the Janesville school.

Because of the late date at which the game was called off, Business Manager Wolfe of the Blues will be unable to book another in time for Friday night. This means that no game will be played here this week.

Union High Saturday.

On Saturday night of this week, Janesville journeys to Milton to play Union high school here. Drawn from two districts, Milton and Milton Junction, Union has a fast and strong aggregation this year. The battle should prove a fast one. With train accommodations good, a good crowd of loyal rooters is expected to make the trip with the squad.

ILLINI UPSET DOPE; DEFEAT CHI, 33-29

Champaign, Ill., Jan. 18.—Illinois outpointed Stagg's confident Carsons tonight and won 32 to 29 in an exciting overtime battle which marked the conference debut of Coach Frank Winters, late of Rockford high school.

The Illini, doped to lose generally, turned like tigers on the invaders. Instead of being obliged to take the defensive, Capt. Vail's scrappers took the lead almost from the start.

"Iron" Man Leads Staleys for 1921

Decatur, Ill., Jan. 19.—Joe McGinnity, famous iron man of the National league years ago, has been named manager of the Staley baseball team for the season of 1921. The starch workers expect to have a stronger club than the one that represented them in the Central Industrial Baseball association last season.

MILTON OVERCOMES WHITEWATER, 31 TO 14

(By Gazette Correspondent.)

Milton, Jan. 19.—Milton college valiantly defeated Whitewater Normal at White-water Tuesday afternoon to the music of 31 to 14. Milton led all the way, their defense confining the normals to long scattered shots. Lanphere started with four field goals and all-around playing. At half time the score stood, 15 to 2. Kalkuske, suffering with a lame foot, was withdrawn. Sayre was slightly injured in the second half.

Summary:

Milton—Mumbrue, 1; Lanphere, 1; Kalkuske, 2; Jacobsen, 1; Mumbrue, 1; Van Duser, 1; Saxton, 1. Free throws—Lanphere, 3 out of 3; Palmer, 1 out of 2. Palmer with-drawn for four personal fouls. Referee—Emig of Carroll.

ALL-STARS BOOSTER AT Y. M. C. A. TONIGHT

The All Stars are all set for their booster game tonight at the "Y" at 8:15. The Evansville five will have Funk, Towles and Laird, former high school stars, and they will surely give the Stars a fast game. The Stars lineup is not certain, but the following will all be in suits: Dick, Hager, Fuelleman, Graf, Graesslin, Cullen, Schilling and Anderson.

Determination of whether the Stars continue to bring out-of-town teams here depends upon the support given the boys by local fans tonight. They are in the game for the sport of it, and display a fast brand of basketball.

FIRST BOUTS ARE EXPECTED TO BE HELD IN 3 WEEKS

Formation of a boxing club by the Janesville lodge of Elks was approved by the order in regular meeting Tuesday night. Articles of incorporation are being made out today by Attorney Louis Avery. These, together with an application for a license, will be filed immediately, according to plans.

Guarantee of all preparatory expenses was made by the Elks. A special committee was appointed to carry out the project. They are E. R. McKnight, chairman; Charlie Riley and Al Rotstein, all ardent followers of the game, Riley being somewhat of a first class amateur with the gloves.

Bout in Three Weeks

According to plans, the first card is expected to be pulled off in about three weeks. Only six artists sanctioned by the state boxing commission will make their appearance here. Promise has already been made from Milwaukee fight headquarters that the popular line of talent as seen at the Milwaukee athletic club will be sent here.

Bouts for the time being will be held in the lodge rooms of the Elks. Prices about $1.00 a seat will be charged. If the game proves successful, it may be tried on a larger scale.

With a large number of followers of the roped arena in this city, according to members of the committee, the inauguration of the sport here is expected to prove popular.

The "U.S." Walrus

Warm as an Arctic-washes off like a Boot

The "U.S." Walrus—worn by farmers everywhere

FOR years farmers have needed a high rubber overshoe—easy to put on and take off—warm and comfortable—one that could be easily cleaned of the dirt of the barnyard.

There's an overshoe like that ready for you this winter. With an all-rubber surface—snow-tight and water-tight—lined with soft, warm fleece—the U. S. Walrus is just the thing you've been looking for.

It slips right on over your leather shoes. You can work in sticky mud all day, but when you get home a pail of water or a rinse at the pump washes the U. S. Walrus as clean as when you started. No chance for dried mud to rot that smooth rubber surface!

At exactly the place where overshoes usually wear out first, the U. S. Walrus has been made strongest. Its sole consists of heavy layers of the finest rubber. All other points of strain are specially reinforced.

Ask your dealer to show you a pair of the U. S. Walrus. Examine for yourself their wonderful built-to-wear construction. After you've worn a pair for a day or two, you'll realize why farmers everywhere are buying them.

Other types of "U.S." Footwear—built for rough service

U. S. Boots have all the wear and comfort which the accumulated improvements of 74 years have given them.

U. S. Booties lace on over the sock like a leather shoe. You can wear them all day long in mud and water—your feet will stay dry and comfortable.

The U. S. line of footwear has a type for every need—arctics, rubbers, "overs." Every one is backed by over half a century of experience. The rubber comes from our own plantations—the whole process of manufacture is supervised by experts.

Always look for the U. S. Seal—it means solid wear and long service for your money.

Two weeks later.
"Well, I don't know as I have anything very special to say. Still, I suppose I ought to write something; so I'll put down what little there is of course, doesn't so much happen here, anyway, as there does at home—I mean in Boston. (I must stop calling it home down to Boston as if this wasn't home at all.) I just make Aunt Jane very, very angry, and I don't think father likes it very well. But as I was saying, there really doesn't so much happen here as there does at home; but I don't think I ought to expect it to be interesting. I'm Mary now, not Marie."

There aren't any teas and dinners and pretty ladies and music and soulful-eyed prospective suitors here. Wouldn't Aunt Jane have four of these? And father, too. But I'd just like to put down Mother's letters and the little cakes and flowers and talk and tinkling laughs down in Aunt Jane's parlor, and then watch what happened. Oh, of course, the party was a long one, not any at all. But they could stand it long enough for father to thunder from the library, "the meaning of all this!" And for Aunt Jane to give one look at the kind of clothes her folk wear, and then face her with her hands on her hips and her eyes on the ceiling. "Wouldn't it be fun?" But, there! What's the use of imagining perfectly crazy, impossible things like that? We haven't had a thing here in that parlor since I came but one missionary meeting and one Ladies Aid Sewing Circle; and after the last one (the Sewing Circle) Aunt Jane worked a whole day picking threads off the carpet, and smoothing down the linen covers because they'd got so mussed up. And I heard her tell the hired girl that she shouldn't have that thing called a "bureau" in her room, and when she did have them they'd have to be in the dining-room with a sheet spread down to catch the threads. But I would like to see Aunt Jane with one of Mother's teas in her parlor!

I can't see as father has changed much of any these last two weeks. He still doesn't pay much of any attention to me, though I do find him looking at me sometimes, just as if he was trying to make up his mind about something. He doesn't say anything, but he looks at me once or twice when he got to asking questions again about Boston and mother. The last time I told him all about Mr. Harlow, and he was so interested. I just happened to mention his name, and he wanted to know right away if it was Mr. Carl Harlow, and if it was whether Mother had ever known him before. And of course I told him right away that it was—the same one who was engaged to be before she was engaged to him. But he looked funny and kind of grunted and said, yes, yes, he knew. Then he said, "That will do, Mary." And he began to read his book again. But he never turned a page, and he never five minutes before he got up and walked around the room picking out books from the bookcases and putting them right back, and picking up things from the mantel and putting them right back. Then he turned to me and asked with a kind of of-course-I-don't-care air:

The E. W. Rose Co., Cleveland, O.

"Did you say you saw quite a little of this Harlow fellow?" But he did care. I know he did. He was real interested. I could see that he was. And so I told him everything, all about how he came there to the teas, and sent her flowers every day, and was getting a divorce himself, and what he said on the sofa that day, and how Mother answered. As I said, I told him everything, only I was careful not to say Mr. Harlow was a prospective suitor, of course. I remembered too well what Aunt Hattie had said. Father didn't say anything when I got through. He just made Aunt Jane very, very angry, and I don't think father likes it very well. But as I was saying, there really doesn't so much happen here as there does at home; but I don't think I ought to expect it to be interesting. I'm Mary now, not Marie."

I guess there aren't any prospective suitors here. I mean, I guess father isn't a prospective suitor; anyhow, not if, of course, he's the man that has to be the suitor. He doesn't go anywhere, only over to the college and out to the observatory, I've heard that. I don't know. I wanted specially to know, for of course if he was being a prospective suitor to anyone, she'd be my new mother, maybe. And I'm going to be awfully tender about any new mother coming into the house.

A whole lot more, even, depends on mothers than on fathers, you know; and if you're going to have one all ready-made thrust upon you, you'd better get on your knees and thank him like a new mother even as well as I'd like a new father; and I don't believe I'd like him over at all. Here that father could have. There are several pretty teachers in the schools, and some nice unmarried ladies in the church. And there's Miss Fremont Snow. She's Professor Snow's sister. She wears glasses and is terribly learned. Maybe he would like her. But, Mary! I shouldn't.

Then there's Miss Grace Sanborn. She's fat, and awfully jolly. She comes here a lot lately to see Aunt Jane. I don't know why. They don't belong to the same church, or anything, but she "runs over" as she calls it, almost every afternoon just a little before dinner—I mean supper.

Mrs. Darling used to come then, too, when I first came; but she comes over now more and more. Aunt Jane doesn't like Miss Grace Ann. I don't think she does like her, for every time she saw her she'd say: "Oh, you! You're not here again!" And then she'd turn and talk to Aunt Jane and simply ignore Miss Grace Ann. And pretty quick she'd get up and go. And now she comes evenings, and she's always there once or twice when he got to asking questions again about Boston and mother.

The last time I told him all about Mr. Harlow, and he was so interested. I just happened to mention his name, and he wanted to know right away if it was Mr. Carl Harlow, and if it was whether Mother had ever known him before. And of course I told him right away that it was—the same one who was engaged to be before she was engaged to him. But he looked funny and kind of grunted and said, yes, yes, he knew. Then he said, "That will do, Mary." And he began to read his book again. But he never turned a page, and he never five minutes before he got up and walked around the room picking out books from the bookcases and putting them right back, and picking up things from the mantel and putting them right back. Then he turned to me and asked with a kind of of-course-I-don't-care air:

Serving Two Masters

You Can't Do It and Satisfy Both.

In grammar school I had always been somewhat active in athletics. I had been a member of the basketball team and played center on the basketball squad, but inasmuch as in high school—the one I attended, at least—it was not the custom for freshmen to display their athletic ability before the world at large and the school in particular, I made no attempt to get on any of the teams. All I did was to pay strict attention to my books. Studied hard each day after returning home from school and came through at the end of every month with very gratifying grades on my report card.

This became tiresome. There was not enough variety. I wanted something different with which to break the monotony of it all. And then came the time when I was advanced from the freshman class into the sophomore. All I can still remember that glorious day when I was told that I had "passed" all the tests and would soon commence on my second year of high school work. I realized that with my becoming a sophomore an irrevocable bar would be lifted and I would be taken into the social activities of the school more than while in the freshman class. I had learned the ropes. I believed that I actually became big-headed with my becoming a second year student. I guess I was just arriving at that age when people say "I know more than I will know for good now in his whole life. It is true, too, that now I began to see why freshmen are so often libeled and joked about. Before I had never been able to grasp the idea, but now...

Such foolish things those freshmen would do! Of all the queer questions they would ask! And promptly forgetting my own day as a freshman, I began a campaign in conjunction with most of the other sophomores, to make life as miserable as possible for all the newcomers at school. I wrote to the editor of an egotistical sophomore. Keep in touch with it. More tomorrow.

SAYS THERE'S TOO MUCH GAMBLING IN SCHOOL

Evansville, Ill.—Some startling things concerning student life were disclosed at the Evansville High School recently when Samuel Weatherbee, Jr., a student, painted a picture of "gambling and immorality" among the high school boys of this city in an essay on gambling and like matters, which won first prize in the annual essay competition.

Weatherbee stated that the boys beat the money they were given for lunch and other supplies on the results of the interscholastic events.

Ever have a "low-down" pain in the back? In the "small" right over the hip? That's the home of backache. It is caused by weak kidneys, Mrs. Doan's Kidney Pills. Janesville people testify to their worth. Read a case of it: Mrs. Arthur Fuller, 118 N. Terrace St., Janesville, says: "Doan's Kidney Pills did me a world of good when I used them some years ago and I am glad to recommend them. My kidneys were giving me considerable trouble. My back ached continually and I couldn't sleep at night. In the morning, I could hardly dress myself and little flashes of light would come before my eyes. I was nervous. As soon as I began using Doan's Kidney Pills, I was relieved and felt better in every way."

Get Out Your Pens, Folks.

Have you ever written anything that has been reproduced in black, cold type? Do you want to? Here's your chance.

This newspaper was the first to publish in this section as many contributions from its boy and girl readers as possible.

Topics on which to write are not difficult to find, if you go after them in the right way. News of any unusual activity of the young people in your locality or school, articles for our various departments as "Party Stunts," and so on, are acceptable. They must be original with the person who submits them, and not copied from any other source.

Factor that you believe will interest boys and girls will stand a chance of publication.

All we ask is that you make your articles short and to the point, using no unnecessary words, but at the same time not cramming your style of expression, that you write on one side of the paper with either ink or typewriter—no pencil manuscripts will be considered; that you address the contributions to the editor of this section in care of the Editor.

Do not forget to put your name and address on the envelope, and then—don't get too angry if your first item doesn't appear. The competition is strong, and you should give yourself a fair chance before you give up.

It's all sorts of fun to see your writings in print, together with your name, and if you have no little value to your education. We suggest that you keep a copy of each of your manuscripts and compare them with the work after the edition has printed it.

Send us your work, and we'll see you're just you're a boy or girl, let us hear from you.

"KOZAK LIGHTENS LOAD OF HOME CARES" SHE AVERS

"I spent a small fortune trying to get relief from stomach troubles," said Mrs. Anna Jefferson, 321 17th Ave., Milwaukee, recently.

After a long and weary life, she came to work out and weak it was an effort for me to do my household work. It was my son-in-law who got me to try this Kozak. It really gave me a new woman out of me. It gave me a keen appetite, seemed to promote the digestion of my food and create new energy and vigor. I no longer suffer from that heavy, bloated, painful feeling after eating.

I sleep better and never suffer headaches as of old. Nothing seems to get on my nerves like it used to, and housework comes much easier and I really enjoy it now. Kozak is really grand.

Kozak which seems to quickly master stomach, kidney, liver and bowels, is a new being explained by the Kozak Man at Peoples' Drug Store, Main and Milwaukee Streets, daily and evenings. Advertisement.

His Cigar Doesn't Taste Right

And Let It Be the Same If It Was Smoking with So Much Relish After Dinner Last Night. Out of the Very Same Box, Too.

Every smoker has experienced this peculiar condition, the result usually of imperfect digestion of food. The blame is rarely put where it belongs.

Following along as near to the road as he dared, he made pretty fair progress. Presently he heard whistles begin to blow, and coming to the top of the hill, he was climbing looked down on the other side to find the busy little city of Springfield spread out before him.

"It must be noon," commented Billy. "What's the whole story about?"

It will keep me busy to get to the show by the time the performances begin. The bills said one o'clock sharp. Way off there to the south side is the big tent. My ain't it a whopper. Don't know how it ever got in, but I must manage somehow, and I'm glad I've come. If only Terrence Bull Pup hadn't been so snippy, I would have had no trouble, and might have seen the whole thing. As it is, I've missed the parade. I wish now that I hadn't stopped to eat that cabbage.

I hope I see Terrence. If I do, he'll soon find out not so good yet as to pass over his slights without notice. I can just feel myself giving him a butting as he has never had before.

This time Billy was trotting down the long hill that leads into Springfield from the west. The houses were becoming thicker and thicker in young crosses and increasing. He hurriedly found it necessary to take to the open streets. But there were so many people and so much excitement and confusion that Billy was a little out of patience to find that no attention was paid to him.

Even the boys, who had generally made him trouble in the old days, let him alone. They were on their way home from seeing the parade where there had been elephants, and camels, and bears, and lions, and...

TREAT COLDS AT ONCE WITH TURPO

People are inclined to neglect a cold thinking it will pass off in a few days. Our experience in the past severe winters proves that colds do not "pass off."

If neglected they rapidly develop into serious illness. In the early stages of a cold, if Turpo is applied up the nose, it has a clearing and antiseptic effect on the membrane and air passages, which gives immediate relief and stops the cold at once. If the cold has developed, Turpo applied to the neck and chest carries the medication right through the skin into the root of the trouble, relieving the congestion and inflammation.

Turpo is simply a combination of the old-fashioned remedies, distilled Turpentine, Camphor and Menthol, in a clear mineral base. It does not stain, burn or blister. It is soothing, antiseptic and healing. Doctors know its value and recommend it as a safe and reliable home remedy. Over 150,000 jars of Turpo are sold annually. Your druggist guarantees money back if not satisfied.

Sold in white opal jars with the orange and black label, at 30c and 60c.

BILLY WHISKER

By FRANCES TREGO MONTGOMERY

Billy soon found a place where the bars were down, and turned aside into the fields to continue on to the circus.

Besides all that, most of them were going back to see the performance as soon as they had their dinners. No, they had no time for goats now!

Little they guessed how much of that day's excitement and fun would be due to the great goat they were meeting so carefully in the street. If they had, you may be sure they would have looked at him twice.

(Billy enters the circus tent tomorrow.)

KEEP LOOKING YOUNG

It's Easy—If You Know Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets

The secret of keeping young is to feel young—to do this you must watch your liver and bowels—there's no need of having a complexion marked with pimples under your eyes—pimples—a bilious look in your face—dull eyes with no sparkle. Your doctor will tell you ninety per cent of all sickness comes from inactive bowels and liver.

Dr. Edwards, a well-known physician in Ohio, perfected a vegetable compound mixed with olive oil to act on the liver and bowels, which he gave to his patients for years.

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets, the substitute for calomel, are gentle in their action yet always effective. They bring about that natural buoyancy which all should enjoy by toning up the liver and clearing the system of impurities.

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets are known by their olive color. 15c and 30c.

High Spots at Co. Board

The county board opened its adjourned session yesterday afternoon with 37 members present and eight absent and after dealing with the county agent question and considering routine business, adjourning until today.

Defer Action on Park.

The special committee authorized to negotiate for the site of the park was given further time to purchase the land. Supervisor Wilson Lane, Janesville, made the report.

It appears that the owner, William Peterson, residing near Janesville, wishes $500 for the acre, and the county refuses to pay more than $250. In event agreement cannot be reached, the committee plans to start condemnation proceedings and secure the land as a park site.

Smiley Drains $7,100.

In the 1920 report of the register of deeds and for abstract work it was noted that the total fees for abstract work amounted to $7,100.38, one half of which was paid to the county and one-half to E. P. Smiley, who was appointed to the board after filling the abstracts. This amount is $3,550.19. The salary for Smiley as register of deeds is $1600 a year.

What'll Pay the Bill?

Dispute is raised over the payment for furniture in the office of P. A. Peterson, assessor of incomes and supervisor for this district. Simon Smith, Beloit, ruled that committee 10 on general claims had no jurisdiction on the bill which was more than $900. The bill was referred to the committee on public property to determine if the county should pay the amounts.

$9,000 for Poor.

Reports of the home commissioners, two in number, showed that George Seegmiller, Beloit, paid out $5184.82 in the last period and A. P. Anderson, Janesville, the sum of $2923.68.

Official File Handed.

Bonds of the county officers were filed with the board during the session yesterday afternoon.

Beloit is Quiet.

There was a noticeable silence when Supervisor Snyder introduced the county agent resolution. The members all concentrated their attention on the business at hand. They were evidently prepared for it. Jealous city members had nothing to say.

about the matter but they didn't lift a hand to help the matter along, except Simon Smith, veteran member of the board.

Glassco Tells of Work.

The report of County Agricultural Agent P. T. Glasco was listened to with attention. He outlined the work pursued in the organization of the pure bred pig and sheep clubs, the purchase of seed potatoes, saving farmers $1.43 a bushel, the purchase of peaches and apples, the pooling of the 60,000 pounds of wool produced in Rock county; the opposition to the day-light saving plan; the milk fight; the advancement of the livestock and other fertilizers; the demonstrations and tests.

During the year 421 farm laborers were placed through the office. "I don't think the merchants were damaged a bit through the little co-operative purchasing the bureau did," said Mr. Glasco in his report. "The farm bureau is necessary for the success of the agent. It is his chief aid in putting improvements before the farmers quickly and effectively. I have not attempted new ideas, but rather those which have been followed in other counties."

This Drains Smiles.

During the meeting County Clerk Edward W. Lee read a communication from V. A. Hansen, Balsam Lake, Polk county which caused many of the board members to smile. "The Polk county resolution recommended action by the legislature that the present form of county government be abolished and a five men commission government be started. The present supervisor system, the letter declared, is 'too cumbersome and inefficient.'"

Copies of the same resolution passed in Polk county were sent to every county clerk in Wisconsin and to members of the legislature, and administration officials of the state. When the resolution was referred to the committee the most of the board members were smiling.

One remark was made to the effect, "The Gazette should make a column out of that." But the supervisor speaking didn't get the expected laugh.

PLAN TO ADD MORE TEACHERS, FEB. 1
Teachers of the grade schools of the city met at the Garfield school Monday afternoon following the school session and discussed plans for the next semester which begins in two weeks and plans for the final semester examinations.

Further increase in the grade schools is not expected by Superintendent Holt, who stated today that about the same number of pupils will be enrolled in the first grade as were graduated. There are 120 children who will graduate from the eighth grade of the public schools in Janesville February 1st. Several additions in the teaching staff are planned by Supt. Holt, who is having a hard task to select new teachers.

A vote is being taken among the high school pupils to ascertain what time school will be opened in the morning and at the lunch hour. Owing to the increase in the number entering high school it is necessary to add another period of 40 minutes to the school day, this will make ten periods instead of nine.

Admire, Olin—Trial of Mrs. Clara Smith Hinton, charged with shooting Jake L. Janson, was set for March 19.

ROCK FARMERS ARE SHOWING INTEREST IN COMING MEETINGS

Rock county farmers continue to show decided interest in the meetings to be held in Madison from February 1-10 and in the results to be obtained from the Farm Bureau members' meeting on February 2.

The convention of the bureau will be the first annual business meeting of the state federation. It will start at 1:30 o'clock in the afternoon.

Benefit programs are to be worked out by the county bureau organizations, each to consider farm problems that are found in the various counties and townships. This will be used as a basis to formulate a state program.

Co-Operative Markets.
The Wisconsin Farm Bureau is declared to be heartily in accord and will lend its full support in the establishment of co-operative marketing enterprises along the lines of more economical marketing. It is expected that the county and local units will fully co-ordinate in the business of the state association.

The condition of the dairy industry is unsettled at the present time due to the sharp break in prices. Meanwhile the dairyman is marketing milk produced at a exceedingly high cost. The state federation may offer some solution to the uncertainty through co-operative marketing improvements.

Seek Rural Credits.
Rural credits will also be brought up during the farm bureau meeting and during the important marketing conference. The co-ordination of efforts of all the state farmers, it is believed, will go a long way to adjust prices and meet the seasonal fluctuations of supply and demand. Some relief will be asked in the matter of farm credits through the building a substantial credit system.

The efforts of the state federation of the farm bureau have to a large extent during the past year been concerned with organization work. The annual meeting, it is declared, will call for a constructive activities in connection with a more economical production and distribution of agriculture products of this state.

Prof. B. H. Hibbard, who spoke at the Twilight club meeting Tuesday night, will take a leading part in the market conference.

Quick Service Feature of Two Large Banquets

Serving 400 people is not an easy job. But Janesville girls and boys who aid in community banquet plans declare that while it is hard work, it is also good sport, that is in event it does not come too often.

At each of two recent banquets for the master builders and the one given Saturday night in honor of Senator Irvine L. Leanoor there were about 400 people. It takes careful and planned organization to meet the banquet conditions.

Girls who hold positions as secretaries, stenographers, and clerks volunteer to do the work of serving. They are not over experienced in the art of serving but no one would ever know for the service given at both banquets was high praise.

There are three banquets to be held in the Y. M. C. A. in the near future. There was the Twilight club Tuesday night, the ministerial association next Saturday, the Moose probably on February 15 and the Chamber of Commerce, January 27.

The girls and boys who serve are obtained by Miss Lorene Bowerman and no difficulty is encountered in obtaining sufficient number. When the banquet is over, they have their fun. They have a banquet of their own in the rooms of the gymnasium.

And some times while eating they hear the tinkle of coins dropping into plates or glasses in the banquet room. Then they smile.

The Walworth County Board of Supervisors will meet on Jan. 25. It is an adjourned session of the annual November meeting and will be held to close up the year's business. The board will be in session about three days.

Rec-Receivers to Meet.
The county rec-receivers' association meets in Elkhorn Wednesday. Adams, Hamilton and Dr. Prucker, of the state department, Madison, will be present and address the meeting. I. A. Davis, the veteran businessman, is president of the county association.

Swine Breeders Meet.
The Poland-China swine breeders association has elected the following officers: president, Stanley E. Ladd; first vice-president, Carl Olson, Elkhorn; secretary, Isadore Pitomoris, Troy; treasurer, C. F. Masterson, Lake Geneva.

County Boasts 62 Auto Dealers; 60 Pct. Increase
Rock county boasts 62 automobile dealers, according to latest reports of the auto business in the state. Last year the county had only 39, which is a 60 per cent increase.

The leading county is Milwaukee with 177, while Dane county, in which Madison is located, ranks second with 163. Rock county percentage of increase, however, is greater than either of these two.

Twenty of Rock county's dealers are listed as located in Janesville. Beloit has 19.

AT HOG SALES
Clarence Craft, Fred Waldman and J. J. McCann, farmers living near Janesville, are making a swing around the several Duroc-Jersey hog sales being held in this vicinity. Yesterday they were in attendance at Givensburg. From there they go to the two-day sale at Wapinoda. They will wind up at the Clarence George and Alex Knudson sale at Evansville.

KEEP AWAY FROM WIFE, IS ADVICE GIVEN BUCKERIDGE

The Buckeridge squabble, near Beloit, comes to the limelight again. The wife, Blanche Buckeridge, who is also known as Blanche Claire, has brought action in the circuit court to enjoin her husband from interfering with her or in the custody of their 4-year-old child.

Recently Buckeridge was arrested for alleged kidnapping when he took the child and went on a 5,000 mile tour of the west. His arrest followed a series of terrorism events at the farm of W. E. Padcock, near Beloit. After being held in the county jail for a week, the charges against Buckeridge were dismissed. An alibi was proven so far as the shooting and assaults at the Padcock farm were concerned.

In the hearing before Judge Grimm Monday Mrs. Buckeridge demanded that her husband leave her and her child alone. The court issued an order enjoining Buckeridge from interfering with her or to annoy her.

Buckeridge went capricious tears in the court room and declared that he "had been threatened." The court was curd in the statement demanding Buckeridge "get to work" and provide support for the child as was demanded in a divorce judgment more than two years ago. Buckeridge informed the court he had not worked for three years. The fact he is not a man of means and was able to support an extended costly western trip with the boy aroused the suspicions of Fred Beley, sheriff at the time of his arrest in Beloit.

GIBBONS WANTS YOUNG MEN IN CHAMBER WORK
Aim to get the young men of Janesville interested in the growth of the city through greater activity in civic work is the desire of A. J. Gibbons, president of the Chamber of Commerce. Speaker to a group of the "younger business men" at the Grand hotel yesterday, he said:

"If I do nothing else as president of the chamber than to get you young fellows to get into civic work, I shall be satisfied. You are the element that eight or ten years from now will be the business men of the town. The time for you to get started in the Chamber of Commerce is now."
